NEW ALBERTA FIELD CROPS CHIEF LIKELY

Government Giving Consideration To Appointment of Commissioner

Consideration is being given to the appointment of a new Alberta field crops commissioner. When the field crops commissioner is named, Mr. Longman will continue in his capacity as director of the special areas board.

VOLE OF $30,000
Vote of $30,000 for the board present the announcement from the minister. It was also pointed out that there is an appropriation of $43,535 for the lands and mines department for this year.

A. W. Plummer, S.C. Cypress, expressed the government on votes for the municipal areas and special areas board. He said that the board of lands and mines dealt with certain responsibilities falling upon his department and come on the legislative. Some officials had specified duties to attend to.

SALARY OF $3,000
Discussion declared that a salary of $3,000 was provided for the field crops commissioner and $4,000 for the director of the special areas board.

Some criticism was directed at an appropriation of $23,535 for farms and in reply the minister said that there were 1,000 farm farms in the province and the expenditure was well justified.

WEATHER TO REMAIN FAIR, MILD IN CITY

Continuing its "hanging fire" attitude toward coming spring, and departing winter, Edmonton weather turned in a maximum temperature reading for Tuesday of 40 above, registered at 3 p.m. Wednesday the red line was back up to 31 above, and the forecast is again at that time was "Fair and mild."

Ground stepped out of line in the near north readings at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday and sagged down to 29, taking the odddest reading in the district without any other point coming near that mark. The rest of the reporting towns were in the teens and twenties, the highest reading of the lot being 29 above, registered at Falher and Slave Lake.

Far north folks are still in the under-tens, the lowest reading in the area Wednesday being 14 below, at Akivik and Dawson, while lower Fort was almost at zero below, and at Ft. McMurray, 4 below, and Fort Smith with 2 below.

Police Court
Two youths, who said they came from Vancouver, pleaded guilty to vagrancy charges in police court Wednesday. They were John Hardy and Edward Hoffer and they appeared before Magistrate A. H. PROBLEMS OF RELIEF ONE WEDNESDAY

Lethbridge Makes Representations Before Agricultural Committee

Lethbridge unemployment relief problems were aired before the legislative assembly's agriculture committee on Wednesday, with Aid. J. A. Davidson and C. E. W. Watson appearing to present the case for the city.

It was submitted that the Dominion government grant constitutes 30 per cent of relief in this province and Lethbridge contributes $11.5 per cent of the total relief there.

"The provincial government then is not contributing their fair share of the Dominion grant," the official said. "The relief is not being paid."

TEND TOWARD ABUSE
Present regulations, it was submitted, tend toward abuse by certain individuals who receive relief which it is impossible for the city to pay.

"The province should not 'three' municipalities to furnish relief for the relief which is not prepared to pay for."

It was submitted that farmers and some towns to sell their farms and machinery, move to cities and maintain themselves for 12 months and then apply for relief. This has not power to refuse these people relief, it was claimed.

GRASS EXHAUSTION
From 1930 to 1937 inclusive the gross expenditure for relief in Lethbridge was $1,480,000, which the Dominion and province contributed $484,000 and Lethbridge itself paying $996,000.

Largest grant in aid ever received by Lethbridge was $117,500 monthly and at present the city is receiving $7,500 a month, less provincial deductions for employees at the co-operative coal mine. Contending that the relief problem is too big for the city to handle, the city recovery efforts were filed against 758 residences, as to Dec 31 last, and there will be about 200 more filed by April 30 of the current year.

NO FUNDS AVAILABLE
There are no funds available from the sinking fund toward taxation reduction.

Unemployment relief in 1937 cost Lethbridge $7,657.07 and indirect cost of $1,480,000. The total is a per capita payment of $1.41 and a per taxpayer payment of $18.12.

There were 218 heads of families with 1,001 dependents and 30 single persons or a total of 1,322 receiving relief. The average of 1,001 persons receiving relief each month.

Increasing tax burden has been responsible for the reduction in the city's gross revenue and tax arrears as well as the loss of business.

Mrs. R. Lindsay Dies At Age 86

Funeral services will be held Friday at 2:30 p.m. in the Clover Bar United Church, with Rev. W. J. Kidd officiating. Interment to take place in the Mount Royal cemetery. Arrangements are in charge of Andrews.

Edson Member Is Wildly Acclaimed When He Returns

Unprecedented Scenes Enacted in Legislative Chamber as Members and Gallery Cheer and Chant Chorus

Amid ringing cheers, thumping of desks by members, huzzas from the galleries, Joseph H. Unwin, Social Credit member of the legislature for Edson, took his seat in the legislature on Tuesday afternoon, after being absent from the house since the day the session opened on Thursday, Feb. 10.

Unprecedented scenes were enacted as the Edson member, Jack Brin, Dr. K. S. Stankiewicz, welcomed him back as a representative of the people on the floor of the legislative assembly. He was released from the jail about half-way through his three months' sentence, imposed following conviction for defamatory libel, well knowing the state to be late.

HOLD SNARE DANCE
With calls for "three cheers," the spectacle of a cabinet minister leading the enthusiastic throng in singing "He's a jolly and reliable," and a "snake dance" around the legislative chamber, the senate at once became a scene of revelry and the whole spirit of the assembly was festive.

There was expectation that the returning member would receive a warm welcome. The cheering was so loud that the speaker had to ask the members to be quiet. The cheering was so loud that the speaker had to ask the members to be quiet.

Orin A. Kennedy, Social Credit member of parliament for East Edmonton, entered the speaker's gallery at 2:45 p.m. and received a hearty ovation from the galleries, many spectators in which recognized him.

At 3 p.m. the house convened in regular session with Mr. Speaker taking the chair and Sergeant-at-Arm, H. S. Newby laying the table on the table.

Routine matters were proceeded with until orders-of-the-day were completed.

SPEAKER LEAVES CHAMBER
Then Mr. Speaker left his chair and the chamber, followed by the Sergeant-at-Arm, H. S. Newby, and the members of municipal affairs also left the chamber.

There was a pause and then Mr. Unwin entered the chamber. He was greeted by loud thumping of desks and chairs and a chorus of "huzzas" and "cheers" from the galleries.

Then she said "It is my pleasure and my privilege to call for three cheers for Mr. Unwin." The cheering was so loud that the speaker had to ask the members to be quiet.

Without waiting for her to finish the sentence members again sang "He's a jolly and reliable," and a "snake dance" around the legislative chamber, the senate at once became a scene of revelry and the whole spirit of the assembly was festive.

CALLS FOR CHEERS
Alfred J. Hoole, S.C. Red Deer and successor to Mr. Unwin as party whip in the house then called for "three cheers for Kennedy" and the response was equally enthusiastic.

In the gallery, Roy Sheppard, who had acted as chairman of the special committee investigating the snail situation in the province last year, stood up and called for "three cheers for Kennedy" and the response was equally enthusiastic.

Then Mr. Hoole left his place and commenced a snail dance around the legislative chamber, the senate at once became a scene of revelry and the whole spirit of the assembly was festive.

WILL OF PEOPLE
As the dance came to an end, Mr. Unwin rose in his place and said "Thank you." He said "The will of the people of Alberta has gained its triumph. The will of the people has determined victory, not the will of the people, it was the will of the people."

"And I am here to thank the people of Alberta for their support and confidence in me. I am here to thank the people of Alberta for their support and confidence in me."

Then, in a moment Mr. Speaker withdrew from the chamber and the members of the legislature returned to their seats. The cheering was so loud that the speaker had to ask the members to be quiet.

Foster Hewitt Accepts Bulletin-Kiwanis Invitation to Visit City

BULLETIN TO AID CHILDREN WITH CONCERT

Proceeds of the Search For Talent Performance To Be Donated

The Edmonton Bulletin, in its touring over the proceeds from the stage presentation by the art club discovered in the Search For Talent, will aid the Kiwanis Club in caring for the fifty children now in residence at the Kiwanis Children's Home at 103 avenue and 120 street.

In this work, the principle of helping the little ones is the heart of the Kiwanis organization. The endeavor is to help in cases where parents have met with some form of adversity which requires re-establishment of their lives by caring for their children. The Kiwanis Club gives them the necessary training and in which to readjust themselves.

WELFARE PLANNED FOR

While the children are in the care of the home, everything is planned for their physical and spiritual welfare. Medical and dental attention and physical development all receive the careful consideration of the members of the club.

Acting as a temporary "mother" to the children who live at the home, is Miss Isabel MacCormack, whose official position is matron; but who often is "father confessor" and "preacher" for the children in her care, who come to her with their troubles.

ORIGINAL SHOW
Winners of the elimination program, held weekly, in the Search For Talent, will have an opportunity to put on one of the programs from the original show ever to be produced in Edmonton. Foster Hewitt, the winner of all sports competitions, will be here as the guest master of ceremonies working with the winners. The best talent Edmonton schools have to offer will be presented as well as a great variety of Edmontonian adult entertainers.

Including this evening's program, there have been forty-four programs brought to the microphone to show what talent there is in Edmonton. More than 200 students have been auditioned in the regular auditions held each week and more are being called upon. Schools from every part of the city are represented, and students from the age of seven to twenty will take part in one of the most representative auditions ever held here.

READERS PLAY PARTY
Every reader of The Bulletin may take an active part in the contest. The fate of the performers depends on their popularity. Each Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday auditions appear in the pages of The Bulletin, and it is through this medium that the approval of the readers may be registered.

Vote for your favorite and make your ballot for The Bulletin. The Bulletin offers by mail on the Monday following the program on which you are voting. Each week, five

HELLO YOUNG CANADIANS

When Foster Hewitt says "Hello Canada" every Saturday night he is really saying, in an intimate personal way, "Hello, young Canadians."

Let's say to him, on behalf of all the thousands and thousands of school children in Edmonton: "Hello, Foster, and thanks a million!"

He has nothing to gain for himself by coming to Edmonton. He is not being paid for his work. He is not in need of honor. What he is doing is being done not as a stunt, but as a service.

So then, boys and girls, in hearing Foster Hewitt on the radio next Saturday night, realize that you are listening not simply to a golden voice that echoes through the Dominion but to a heart as big as all Canada. He is your friend, your champion, and your companion.

Himself the father of two children, Foster Hewitt has confessed his greatest joy consists in being looked up to as a model of manhood by young Canadians. A Toronto paper has described how big business leaders are kept waiting in the anteroom of his office, at the Maple Leaf Gardens while he chats with some homeless-headed school boy about sports.

Foster Hewitt is coming here to be master of ceremonies at this Kiwanis children's revue. But the duties he will perform are no mere ceremony to him. They are the precious staff of which his dreams are made and for which he lives and has dedicated his being.

Looking Them Over

By Jack Kelly

Big Night

Roll Your Own High Noses

TONIGHT Edmonton will go to its hockey arena in a mission—one of those mighty moods when hockey was the supreme winter interest here. The last game yesterday boomed from the time it opened at 10 a.m. until 10 p.m. Heavy spectators again poured in from country points.

But if the seat sale for tonight's game boomed, so did the betting. Indications are that more money has been laid on the line for this game than any other hockey tilt played here in many years. Odds seem to be about even. Supporters of the Saskatoon Chiefs seem to think they should get a slight edge, but most of them are ready to take even money.

Forecasting the result is like sticking your neck out for the axe. There are a few facts, however, that may help you in formulating your own prediction. Saskatchewan is stronger defensively than is Edmonton. That means that the first goal scored will be mighty important. The E. A. C. is a fast scoring machine and it gets started. It was below par Monday night and the odds are that it will be "right" tonight. The Chiefs also failed to get a single shot Monday night, which is another thing that is not likely to happen again.

But, regardless of which team comes through with a win, and advances into the final for the western championship, you can be certain that tonight's game is going to be something that will be talked about for days to come.

Amateurs Give Perry High Nose

SPOKE has its full share of amonsters—the veterans highlight the rookies, the champs appear sublimely unconscious of the lesser fare but pay out on the dog for the benefit of the pay-per-view dollars in the bleachers. But they are not the amateur professionals when it comes to putting on the most ridiculous and disgusting show of all. At this point let it be clearly understood that this charge applies only to those pros whose tennis is very ultra-ultra—Forest, Haggis, Wimbledon, etc.

Forest Perry is the chief villain, for the prosecution of these charges. He got his first taste of the bores' wrath of pompous badge-wearers when he was playing at Forest Hills as the U.S. amateur champion. Elsworth Vines was a pro then. Forest lived in his house and he had a luncheon party at the club house and to use his own words in the marquee during the matches.

Vines was just nicely into his soup course, when a spattering of epithets indignantly to Perry and told him flatly that Vines could not be tolerated in the club house since he was a pro. Vines, the man whose playing had poured thousands of dollars into Forest Hills coffers when he was an amateur. To Perry's credit, he met the situation like a man. He told the stuffed-shirt that if Vines was not good enough to lunch at Forest Hills and sit in the clubhouse, then he, Perry, would immediately withdraw from the tournament.

That ultimatum conjured up a picture of thousands of dollars sliding away from the box office. The officials indignantly red faced and went away under the glare of the press and he listened to assure Perry that Forest Hills would make a herculean effort to stand the strain of having a pro sit lunch in its sacred club house. It is a matter of record that the club house came under the ordeal without a single member of the board of directors being brought in from being exposed to a man who was openly making the game of tennis out of taking his club house under the queerest of responses account from august amateur officials.

'Twas a Bit Too Thick For Fred

HOWEVER, Forest Hills is not the only spot where this amateur amour is a bit too thick. Perry got doused with it when he returned to Wimbledon after turning pro.

"I had to lose the championship Wimbledon wouldn't be friendly," said each Britisher said, "but they treated me as if I were a ruddy rebel. They made it quite plain that I was not welcome and showed me my locker, with my name blazed on the door. I was not quite sure, but I believe they dipped it in antiseptic. One who used to travel around with me, and to all treatments on the British team marched up and said: 'Really, Fred, old fellow, you really shouldn't come in here, you know.'"

That, according to Perry, was a bit too thick for him. He was not so with a goodly crowd listening in, he proceeded to "kick the fellow off." After mentioning how rightfully grateful Wimbledon had been when he brought the trophy in, and all England single file back home, he reminded the player of the day when he played him made many trips, and on occasion, simply because Perry was along and won the tournaments.

MONTREAL, March 23.—Montreal Canadiens defeated Chicago Blackhawks 6-4 in the first of the best-of-three series between the third-place finishers in the National Hockey League in the Stanley Cup series.

Big Babe Siebert and Cliff Goupille filled a wide breach in Canadiens' defence, and Toe Blake did a first-class pinch-hitting job to bring victory to the Habitants.

Faced with the sudden loss of French, who had been expected to star in the major defence burden because of Siebert's ailing knee, Canadiens showed last night he was fit to lead the Flying Frenchmen again and Goupille did more than his share in Burke's place. Blake was a hustling puckcarrier at left wing.
